

Hi Everyone,

Recently my family went to the delightful musical "The Little Dancer." We followed that up with a visit to the National Gallery of Art to see Edgar Degas's statuette that was the inspiration for the musical. The Little Dancer is the story of the trials and travails of a young ballerina in the 1880's in Paris. I was happy we got to see the musical and the haunting beauty of the statuette at the National Gallery of Art.

As I watched the musical and looked at the statuette I couldn't help but be reminded of a simple phrase that's been going through my mind a lot lately. "Everyone has a story." It's so true. Take this little ballerina. Very little is known about her story but the statuette and the subsequent musical have captured the imagination of all who have seen either or both.

Now it's your turn. Tell us your story. Tell us about your finances and more importantly the dreams you might have that you want to make a reality. Is your dream to get your debt under control? Is your dream to start a savings program? Or maybe your dream is to get a car so that you can get to and from work. Whatever your dream is we would like to assist you in making it come true. And don't worry about the bumps and bruises your finances might have on them. Bad things happen to good people and we understand that.

Everyone has a story. Please tell us yours.

Till Next Time,

Evan Clark
